THE PALAZZO RESORT-HOTEL-CASINO

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA WWW.RESORTSANDGREATHOTELS.COM/PALAZZOLASVEGAS

World-renowned chefs such as Charlie Trotter, Emeril Lagasse, Mario Batali and Wolfgang Puck are behind the 12 astounding fine-dining options at the Palazzo.

at 641.5 feet, the new Palazzo Resort-Hotel-Casino towers above all its peers on the Las Vegas Strip. The luxurious newcomer reigns not only in height: Together with its neighboring property, The Venetian, plus the Sands Expo and Convention Center and the three-level galleria connecting the two hotels, the property is the largest integrated resort in the world, totaling more than 7,000 suites, more than 30 restaurants, four world-class theaters and 2.25 million square feet of convention space.

The stunning 50-story Palazzo itself elicits unlimited superlatives. The $1.8-billion all-suite resort is modeled after the palaces that dot the Italian countryside and are found up and down the Amalfi Coast.

More than 3,000 suites greet guests visiting to relax, play in the casino, shop, swim, dine, splurge on spa treatments or see shows. Modern Italian style defines the décor, with subtle Asian sensibilities woven in. Even the standard suites are a spacious 650 square feet, with sunken living rooms, remote-control Roman shades and curtains, flat-screen TVs and refreshment centers.

High rollers will delight in The Palazzo's penthouse villas overlooking the pool deck. From 9,000 to 12,000 square feet, each villa indulges lodgers with a private pool and spa. Some even have putting greens and wrap-around terraces.

The Shoppes at The Palazzo is an extraordinary retail center, where luxury retailers inhabit 50 fabulous boutiques.

Relaxation is an elevator ride away at the Canyon Ranch SpaClub, a 134,000-square-foot spa and fitness center loaded with services. From Aquavana water therapy to a spa cuisine restaurant, weary guests could spend days rejuvenating in the spa without repeating a ritual. Adjacent to the SpaClub you'll find The Palazzo Pool Deck, with swimming and lounge pools, multiple spas, statuary and gardens. Rent an exquisitely appointed private cabana equipped with a refreshment center, ceiling fan and plasma-screen television.

For those looking to test Lady Luck, The Palazzo welcomes guests to Las Vegas' most elegant casino, complete with all of your favorite games.

Dining is a destination unto itself at The Palazzo. World-renowned chefs such as Charlie Trotter, Emeril Lagasse, Mario Batali and Wolfgang Puck are behind the 12 astounding fine-dining options at The Palazzo. There's a menu with every taste in mind.

The Palazzo is also home to the city's most exciting entertainment and night life. The Palazzo Theatre will be home to Jersey Boys, the Tony Award-winning musical that tells the story of Frankie Valli & the Four Seasons, while the 40/40 Club, created by hip-hop mogul Jay-Z, is Las Vegas' coolest sports bar by day and its hottest lounge by night.

THE VENETIAN LAS VEGAS

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA WWW.RESORTSANDGREATHOTELS.COM/VENETIAN

Experience Venice in Vegas with gondola rides down the quarter-mile Grand Canal.

Live in sheer opulence, glide down an indoor canal in a gondola, dine on the country's finest food and have ready access to an astounding array of entertainment at The Venetian, the world's largest AAA Five-Diamond hotel. From gilt, arched ceilings adorned with stunning murals to recreations of Venice, Italy's beloved landmarks, The Venetian has a wow factor that's huge even for Las Vegas.

Even The Venetian's accommodations are special. Its 3,014 rooms are all suites of at least 650 square feet, with private bedrooms. Sunken living rooms, oversized bathrooms finished in Italian marble, in-suite fax/copier/printers, and safes large enough to hold laptop computers are just the beginning of in-room comfort. Another 1,013 suites at Venezia, The Venetian's "hotel within-a-hotel," offer even more indulgent amenities including a garden courtyard with two pools and two hot tubs, free continental breakfast and cocktail canapes, a DVD library, plasma-screen TVs and specialty pillow and bath menus.

Just try finding time to be in those spectacular suites. When not ogling The Venetian's architecture, you can peruse artwork in the Guggenheim Hermitage Museum, which showcases revolving exhibitions of original works from the world's greatest museums; float down a quarter-mile canal in an authentic gondola, indoors or out; or check out the celebrity wax figures at Madame Tussauds Las Vegas.

Gaming is huge here, with a 120,000 - square-foot floor. Try your hand at 1,700 slots or 130 game tables. In the luxurious baccarat venues, ceremonial tea service and designated dining areas invite you stay comfortable all day or night. The 11,000-square-foot Venetian Poker Room boasts 39 tables.

Enjoy your winnings at The Grand Canal Shoppes, a quarter-mile strip filled with more than 80 high-end boutiques. Splurge on pampering treatments at the vast Canyon Ranch SpaClub. Or, make the scene at the five-acre pool complex.

Diners have lots of choices, with outposts from Thomas Keller, Mario Batali, Emeril Lagasse and Joachim Splichal, to name a few.

Entertainment at The Venetian is as spectacular as the other extras. Blue Man Group and Phantom — The Las Vegas Spectacular astound audiences on a nightly basis, or check out offerings from entertainer Wayne Brady.

If business brings you to Las Vegas, look no further than The Venetian for your meeting and event needs. With 2.25 million square feet of convention space, including 298 meeting, conference and boardrooms, you'll find the setting you need. Expect the catering staff to serve impressive meals and snacks, for 10 or as many as 13,000. Romance-minded couples can tie the knot in front of 150 guests at the elegant Venetian Wedding Chapel.
